DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) THE NAMES OF THE PARTIES TO A JOINT RESEARCH AGREEMENT.
- (e) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC.
- (f) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.
  - (1) Field of the Invention.
  - (2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (g) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.
- (h) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).
- (i) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.
- (j) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (l) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

Claim Objections

Claims 4 and 10 objected to because of the following informalities: The use of the backslash (/) is improper. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Damron (5540178) in view of Lloyd (4778424). Damron discloses a storage unit/pocket 104, which can be made of various fabrics as recited in column 4, lines 53-58, with an opening as best seen in Figure 3 arranged at one end of the storage unit, a rope 101 attached to the storage unit, being received inside the storage unit, when the rope is in an inactive position, as best seen in Figure 2, a closed lifting loop 102c, connected to the rope or in the area of the end of the storage unit that faces away from the opening, wherein the lifting loop has an adjustable length, wherein a second loop 101b, is connected to the lifting loop, as best seen in Figure 1, and a fastening means 106 to detachably engage the second loop to the rope, as best seen in Figure 1, and a fastening means 103b, to be connected to the rope, as best seen in Figure 2, having a coupling function and may be detachably engaged with the rope characterized in that a portion of the rope is designed as a gripping ladder with a number of loops, as best seen in Figure 1, but fails to teach a weight and floating body/life buoy. Lloyd teaches the utility of a weight and floating body 10, which is clamped to the storage body 13 with in an inactive position, as best seen in Figure 1. The use of a weighted floating body is commonly used in the art to allow the person being rescued to see the life saving device and use it to keep afloat until they are rescued.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the life saving device of Damron with a weighted floating body as taught by Lloyd so as to allow the person being rescued to see the life saving device and use it to keep afloat until they are rescued. It would be further obvious to provide a storage device with several pocket so that various components of the device can be store in a separate compartment with in an inactive position, While producing no now or unexpected results.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gerber (6679743), Cameron (4713033), Groover (6257942), Calkin (6800007) and Weinel (7083487) are cited to teach the utility of life saving devices.
